EIGHT-TASK MODEL

Acknowledgement of Country

Kaya. The School Curriculum and Standards Authority (the Authority) acknowledges that our offices are on Whadjuk Noongar boodjar and that we deliver our services on the country of many traditional custodians and language groups throughout Western Australia. The Authority acknowledges the traditional custodians throughout Western Australia and their continuing connection to land, waters and community. We offer our respect to Elders past and present.

How to use this document

Background to the Combined English General and Foundation document

The preference of the School Curriculum and Standards Authority (the Authority) is that ideally, courses should be taught separately rather than delivered alongside other courses in the same classroom at the same time. However, the Authority does not have any policy rules that preclude schools from teaching combined course classes. Where courses are combined, the expectation is that the discrete content of each course and the assessment requirements for each course must still be met.

This document is designed for schools that are delivering English General and Foundation in the same classroom. The students will complete the same modules of work (e.g. documentary study) but the course outlines, assessment outlines and assessment tasks are tailored to the different courses and units. Teaching will also need to be differentiated for the relevant cohorts and students. The accompanying English Foundation documents can be found under the Support Materials tab on the English Foundation page.

Background to the Eight-Task Model

The Board of the School Curriculum and Standards Authority (the Authority) has introduced an Eight-Task (maximum) Model for all courses as part of the Authority's syllabus review process. The intent of the Eight-Task (maximum) Model is to ensure that the Authority's assessment requirements do not generate workloads and/or stress that, under fair and reasonable circumstances, would unduly diminish the performance of students.

The Eight-Task (maximum) Model is not mandated until a course has a syllabus review, and as English hasn't undergone a review and isn't scheduled for one yet, the eight-task maximum is not compulsory in English courses.

Although the English and Literature courses have not yet had syllabus reviews, the Eight-Task Models not only provide exemplars for future change but can also be used for present courses to aid student wellbeing. The intention is to improve the balance between learning and assessment. Therefore, the Eight-Task Models for English include a reduction (to eight) in the maximum number of summative assessments required and an increased emphasis on formative activities. The formative activities and the texts listed in these models are suggestions only.

Advice on use of texts in educational settings

Teachers use their professional judgement when selecting texts to use in their teaching and learning programs. They base their decisions on the requirements of the Western Australian curriculum, student data, the needs of their students and proposed learning intentions and success criteria.

When using texts in the classroom, teachers are also required to:

- conform with relevant legal requirements and Department policies
- address duty of care responsibilities
- meet copyright requirements
- adhere to the requirements of classification categories.

Parent or guardian permission should be sought when showing a publication, film, video or computer game that has a PG or M classification to students under 15 years of age. Texts classified MA 15+ may not be shown to any students without parental consent, and allowances must be made in case of withdrawal. For further information, see the Department of Education policy Select and use texts in the Classroom at https://www.education.wa.edu.au/web/policies/-/use-of-texts-in-educational-settings.

Schools may develop proformas for advising parents or guardians and/or seeking permission for their child to view or use a particular text, or texts, with a specific classification category.

Task 1

Assessment type: Creating

Conditions: Prepared in-class and at home over three weeks

Due date: Week 5

Task weighting: 11%

Instructions

Part 1

• Write a fable, fairytale, myth or legend (500–1000 words) for a specific audience that communicates a life lesson.

- The subject may be original or an adaptation of a traditional story.
- Think about your audience, and develop ideas, values, attitudes and/or perspectives that would appeal to them.
- Pay attention to:
 - narrative techniques (e.g. characterisation, setting, narrative point of view and conflict)
 - text structures (e.g. orientation, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution, flashbacks, juxtaposition, foreshadowing, motif, withholding and in medias res)
 - written language features (e.g. figurative language, emotive language, symbolism, dialogue, imagery, sound devices, diction and syntax)
 - spelling, grammar, punctuation and paragraphing.
- Submit an annotated draft that indicates edits you have made based upon feedback offered by classmates, as well as a final good copy.

Part 2

- Present the story to the class and actively listen to feedback from them. Three peers will be assigned to offer verbal and written feedback (two stars and a wish) about the story.
- As the storyteller, you will need to work out the best way to deliver your story. As you read aloud, you will need to use appropriate pacing you might want to pause for comments or reread sections and ask questions. Think about using eye contact, voice variations and facial expressions to emphasise parts of your story.
- As a listener offering feedback, make sure you use the two stars and a wish framework. Your feedback should be constructive and helpful, so ensure your facial expressions and body language match the message you are delivering.
- As the storyteller, listen carefully to the verbal feedback and thank them for their input. You might want to ask follow-up questions to help you understand their thinking.

Task 3

Assessment type: Creating

Conditions: Prepared in class over two lessons (one lesson for planning and one lesson to write the speech)

Due date: Week 10

Task weighting: 11%

Instructions

• Write a persuasive speech (500–750 words) that presents a perspective about a social protest movement. You may write as yourself or take on a persona.

Think about your audience, and develop ideas and perspectives that would appeal to them.

• Pay attention to:

- text structures (e.g. introduction, juxtaposition, foreshadowing, motif, cause and effect, problem and solution, hook, thesis, call to action, cohesive devices and conclusion)
- persuasive language features (e.g. figurative language, emotive language, symbolism, dialogue, imagery, sound devices, diction, syntax, punctuation, statistics, anecdotes, reference to experts, rhetorical questions, inclusive language, direct address, tone, register and style)
- spelling, grammar, punctuation and paragraphing.
- The written speech should incorporate information gathered from interviews, surveys, questionnaires, library and/or internet resources.
- You must submit a note-making retrieval chart that incorporates information from three different sources. Make sure you reference these correctly and include a bibliography.
- You must submit all notes, plans and drafts along with your final copy.

Task 8

Assessment type: Creating

Conditions: Prepared in class and at home over 3 weeks

Due date: Week 30

Task weighting: 12%

Instructions

• In pairs, design a multimodal presentation on the topic 'A guide to surviving high school'. The presentation should be created for a particular context, purpose and audience.

- Think about your audience, and present ideas, perspectives and supporting evidence that would appeal to them.
- Your presentation should run for 5–10 minutes.
- When delivering your presentation to the class you should focus on speaking skills such as modulating volume, tone, emphasis, pitch, pace, intonation, body language, stance, gestures and eye contact.
- Your presentation must include relevant multimodal elements, such as a PowerPoint presentation, poster, handout, video or audio.
- You will complete peer evaluations and a self-evaluation, reflecting on how well your group worked collaboratively and cooperatively.

Ideas for your presentation

Suggested contexts and audiences

- You are giving a high school graduation speech, reflecting on your time at school
- You are a student councillor and are presenting at the Year 7 Orientation
- You are presenting to new students on their first day of school
- You are creating a humorous YouTube video
