Rationale

Australian First Nations Peoples' histories and cultures are fundamental to the development of Australian identity and the formation of Australian society. The recognition of Australia's First Nations Peoples as the oldest living continuous cultures in the world provides a logical starting point for this course. Students explore and investigate the concept of culture, the diversity of cultural expressions and how these cultural expressions continue, maintain, share and revitalise First Nations Peoples' cultural knowledge, and enrich the identity of all Australians.

Students learn about the diversity of First Nations Peoples. They explore a wide range of political, social, historical, legal, economic and environmental issues from an intercultural perspective. They analyse First Nations Peoples' experiences in Australian society, using a range of approaches. These include comparative studies, investigating the experiences of First Nations Peoples' communities within Australia and elsewhere in the world. The importance of ethical considerations in the investigation of cultural and social issues is emphasised.

The Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course provides opportunities for students from all cultures to explore and involve themselves in active reconciliation. This course affirms the cultural experience and identity of Australian First Nations students. All students have opportunities to learn from Australian First Nations Peoples and/or through sources of First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives.

Understanding and valuing cultural diversity are key skills both for citizenship in contemporary multicultural Australia and for participation in an increasingly global community. The Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course is intended to equip students with the knowledge, skills and values to be active citizens at the local, national and global levels. These skills are also highly valued in today's workplaces. The ability to work effectively in a culturally diverse environment is important in a wide range of vocational contexts.

Aims

The Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course enables students to:

- develop and further build knowledge and understanding of Australian First Nations Peoples as being the oldest living continuous cultures in the world
- develop and further build an awareness of the ways First Nations Peoples' identities are expressed through unique ways of being, knowing and doing
- develop and further build knowledge and understanding that there are different and changing perspectives of history and that these inform and influence people's actions
- develop and further build knowledge and understanding that members of different cultures have different world views as a result of their beliefs, values, practices and experiences
- acknowledge and celebrate the diversity and richness of Australian First Nations Peoples' histories and cultures
- develop critical thinking skills, including ethical research skills
- develop empathy and respect for the ways people think, feel and act
- become active and informed advocates for a just and inclusive world
- engage in reconciliation, respect and recognition of the world's oldest continuous living cultures.

Organisation

This course is organised into a Year 11 syllabus and a Year 12 syllabus. The cognitive complexity of the syllabus content increases from Year 11 to Year 12.

Structure of the syllabus

The Year 11 syllabus is divided into two units, each of one semester duration, which are typically delivered as a pair. The notional time for each unit is 55 class contact hours.

Unit 1

This unit enables students to develop their understanding of the concept of culture and of Australia's First Nations Peoples as being the oldest living continuous cultures in the world. Students will explore factors that contribute to a group, or individual identity over time, and in further developing their understanding of the diversity of First Nations Peoples' experiences and perspectives, will build an awareness of the ways First Nations Peoples' cultural identities are uniquely expressed within Australia and around the world.

Unit 2

This unit enables students to explore the distinctiveness and diversity of Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions. They explore the use of First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions to continue, maintain, share and revitalise their cultural knowledge and values and, in doing so, develop respect and understanding of the cultural protocols, including intellectual and cultural property rights, which exist to protect and revitalise First Nation Peoples' cultures.

Each unit includes:

- a unit description – a short description of the focus of the unit
- unit content – the content to be taught and learned.

Organisation of content

The content in each unit is divided into an overview and two depth studies. The content descriptions associated with the overview are designed to be taught at a broad level and in a short timeframe. The content descriptions associated with the depth study are designed to be taught in a more focused and detailed way and, therefore, take more time to teach. The depth studies are designed to be contextualised for the community in which the course is being delivered.

The unit content that is listed after 'e.g.' is provided as suggested examples to guide teachers on relevant topics, which could be used to teach the content descriptions; teachers are not restricted to just the listed examples. Unit content that is referred to in a content description after 'including' is assessable content.

Progression from the Year 7–10 curriculum

This syllabus continues to develop student learning in Australian First Nations Peoples' histories and cultures, which occurs in the Year 7 to 10 Humanities and Social Sciences curriculum. Students will continue to build on and develop the Humanities and Social Sciences skills. The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures cross-curriculum priority continues across all year levels.

Representation of the general capabilities

The general capabilities encompass the knowledge, skills, behaviours and dispositions that will assist students to live and work successfully in the twenty-first century. Teachers may find opportunities to incorporate the capabilities into the teaching and learning program for the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course. The general capabilities are not assessed unless they are identified within the specified unit content.

Literacy

Literacy presents those aspects of the Language and Literacy strands of the English curriculum that should also be applied in all other learning areas. While much of the explicit teaching of literacy occurs in the English learning area, it is strengthened, made specific and extended in other areas, such as in the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course, where students engage in a range of learning activities with significant literacy demands. These literacy-rich situations are a part of learning in all curriculum areas. Paying attention to the literacy demands of the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course ensures that students' literacy development is strengthened so that it supports subject-based learning.

Numeracy

Numeracy is useful in the inquiry process, which requires students to recognise patterns and relationships. Students have opportunities to support their views with data, some of which is numerical in nature. They develop numeracy capability when they analyse, interpret and draw conclusions from statistical information; for example, in relation to change over time.

Information and communication technology capability

Information and communication technology (ICT) capability is important in the inquiry process, particularly in relation to investigation, analysis and communication. Students use digital tools and strategies to locate, access, process and analyse information. They use ICT skills and understandings to investigate and identify different perspectives and sources of evidence and to communicate information. Students have opportunities to scrutinise websites and the perspectives they convey, including how and why such sites are constructed, the audiences they serve and their goals. They develop an understanding of the issues involved in the use of ICT when practising ethical scholarship as part of the inquiry process.

Critical and creative thinking

Critical and creative thinking is integral to the inquiry process. There are opportunities for students to delve deeply and broadly into the implications of any missing or questionable information in their investigation of issues. The demands of investigation include the ability to pose questions, interrogate, select and cross-reference sources, and develop interpretations based on an assessment of the evidence and reasoning. Students identify possible weaknesses in their own positions, and analyse, evaluate and synthesise alternative perspectives.

Personal and social capability

Personal and social capability skills are developed and practised in the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course by students enhancing their communication skills and participating in group work. Students have opportunities to work both collaboratively in teams, and also independently, as part of their learning and research in the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course. Through the study of individuals and groups, students develop their ability to appreciate the perspectives and experiences of others. Students develop increasing social awareness through the study of relationships between individuals and diverse social groups in the modern world.

Ethical understanding

Ethical understanding provides opportunities for students to explore and understand the diverse perspectives and circumstances that shaped the actions and possible motivations of people in the past compared with those of today. Students have opportunities both independently and collaboratively to explore the values, beliefs and principles that were the basis for the judgments and actions of people in the past, and of those of today.

Intercultural understanding

Intercultural understanding is a vital part of learning in the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course. Students explore the different beliefs and values of a range of cultural groups and develop an appreciation of the diversity in the modern world. They have opportunities to develop an understanding of the nature, causes and consequences of conflict, dispossession and interdependence. Students develop an understanding of different contemporary perspectives, the historical contexts for those perspectives, their influence on the relationships between different groups within society, and how they contribute to individual and group actions in the contemporary world.

Representation of the cross-curriculum priorities

The cross-curriculum priorities address contemporary issues which students face in a globalised world. Teachers may find opportunities to incorporate the priorities into the teaching and learning program for the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course. The cross-curriculum priorities are not assessed unless they are identified within the specified unit content.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures priority is integral to the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course. It celebrates Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories as part of the shared history belonging to all Australians. The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Histories and Cultures cross-curriculum priority provides opportunities for all students to deepen their knowledge of Australia by learning about the world's oldest continuous living cultures. Through the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course, students learn that contemporary Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities are strong, resilient, rich and diverse.

This course provides the opportunity to examine historical perspectives from an Australian First Nations Peoples' viewpoint through investigating key policies and political movements over the last two centuries. Students have the opportunity to develop an awareness of the significant roles of Australian First Nations Peoples in Australian society.

Asia and Australia's engagement with Asia

Asia and Australia's engagement with Asia reinforces understanding of the diversity of cultures and peoples living in Australia, fosters social inclusion and cohesion, and allows consideration of a variety of perspectives.

Sustainability

Sustainability addresses the ongoing capacity of Earth to maintain all life. The Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General course examines the beliefs, values and traditions that have influenced the complex interrelations between people and their environment (Country/Land/Water). These beliefs, values and traditions provide the basis for exploring long-term and short-term human impacts or consequences on the natural environment in a range of cultural contexts. This in turn forms the basis for developing and articulating values pertaining to ecological sustainability.

Principles and protocols for teaching and learning

The following principles and protocols should be used in the development and delivery of this course:

Cultural safety and responsiveness

- Recognise and engage with local community members, Elders and/or First Nations Peoples educators.
- Use credible resources produced by or developed in consultation with First Nations Peoples, which provide an active First Nations People voice and a range of perspectives.
- Respect and acknowledge that ownership and teaching of First Nations Peoples histories and cultures, (e.g. traditional practices, spiritual and sacred knowledge) remains with First Nations families and communities.
- Build on the knowledge, skills and prior experiences that Australian First Nation students bring with them to the classroom to ensure learning is relevant, connected and appropriate to achieve education success.
- Recognise and acknowledge that Australia's First Nations Peoples form significant, diverse and resilient living communities within contemporary society.
- Create welcoming and supportive learning environments that respect the cultures, languages, experiences and world views of all students.
- Have the confidence and capability to pursue teaching and learning about, and with, Australian First Nations Peoples.

Teaching and learning program

- The teaching and learning program of the course needs to be contextualised for the community in which the course is being delivered.
- While the course uses the terms 'First Nations Australians' and 'Australian First Nations Peoples,' it is important to use the language and terms preferred in a particular area or location.
- In this course, the term Australian First Nations Peoples includes both Aboriginal Peoples and Torres Strait Islander Peoples. The term First Nations Peoples is inclusive of both Australian First Nations Peoples and First Nations Peoples from countries other than Australia. Where the focus is on First Nations peoples from countries other than Australia the term international First Nations Peoples is used.
- Include where possible, and within the bounds of the syllabus, case studies, examples and issues that align with the locality of the school delivering the course.
- Ensure that learning is built on and includes local, regional and national cultural knowledge and experience of Australian First Nations Peoples in partnership with local communities.
- Use other courses students are undertaking (e.g. EALD, VET courses such as Coastal and Land Management, Indigenous Rangers programs etc.) for cross-curricular learning opportunities, encouraging and supporting students to connect cultural, societal and historical knowledge.

When selecting resources, teachers need to:

- consult with local community members and/or First Nations Peoples educators, if possible, about the terminology, resources and texts that can or cannot be used, and whether they may be accessed by some or all students
- use respectful and inclusive language and terminology, such as those included in A guide to using respectful and inclusive language and terminology <https://www.narragunnawali.org.au/about/terminology-guide>
- analyse the resources using a framework of questions, such as those listed in Evaluating Resources Guide <https://www.narragunnawali.org.au/about/subject-guides>.

Unit 1

Unit description

The focus for this unit is to develop knowledge and understanding of Australia's First Nations Peoples as being the oldest living continuous cultures in the world. Students explore factors that contribute to a group, or individual, identity. Students further develop their understanding of the diversity of First Nations Peoples' experiences and perspectives, locally, nationally, and globally and develop an awareness of the ways First Nations Peoples' identities are expressed through unique ways of being, knowing and doing.

Unit content

This unit includes the knowledge, understandings and skills described below.

Overview of the diversity of Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural identities

- define the following key terms and concepts as they relate to, and by privileging, First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives
 - Culture
 - Identity
 - Deep Time
 - Spirituality
 - Songlines
 - Kinship
 - Country
 - Elders
 - Perspectives
 - Colonisation
- the significance of and differences between an Acknowledgment of Country and a Welcome to Country
- two major types of scientific and archaeological evidence of Australian First Nations Peoples being the oldest, continuous living cultures in the world, (e.g. the concept of Deep Time, Mungo woman, Mungo man, Kakadu National Park Rock Art/artefacts, Murujuga National Park Indigenous heritage and rock art, Barrow Island artefacts, genomic testing)
- two examples of Australian First Nations Peoples' beliefs as shown in creation stories about their origins and location in Australia, (e.g. dreaming stories and Songlines, such as the Rainbow Serpent, the Seven Sisters, Malo Bamai, the Mimis, the Min Min Lights, Mulka)
- the diversity of Australian First Nations Peoples including:
 - languages
 - population distribution
 - graphic representations of Australian First Nations Peoples' geographic locations, place names and landscape features, such as maps, artwork, and Songlines

- Australian First Nations Peoples' expressions of individual and group cultural identity, including:
 - language
 - spiritual beliefs
 - kinship structures
 - the leadership roles of Elders in the community
 - connection to Country and knowledge of Country
- the Aboriginal Flag and the Torres Strait Islander flag, including:
 - the background to the design of the Aboriginal flag by Harold Thomas
 - the background to the design of the Torres Strait Islands flag by Bernard Namok
 - the significance of the colour, shapes and/or symbols on the flags
 - examples of the flags as a symbol of identity and unity
 - changing recognition and use of the flags over time and the inclusion of these flags in the 'Flags of Australia' under the Flags Act 1953
 - copyright and ownership issues relating to the Aboriginal flag

Depth Study One

Through community experiences and/or secondary sources, and by privileging First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives, students investigate the cultural identity of one Western Australian First Nations Peoples and one International First Nations Peoples, such as the Maori, the Dayak people of Borneo, the Inuit, the First Nations Peoples of North America, the Karen people of Burma, the Tibetan people, and/or the Khoikhoi peoples of South Africa.

For the two selected First Nations Peoples, students will study where applicable:

- the range of languages and geographical locations
- examples of factors that contribute to the cultural identity of the selected First Nations Peoples, including:
 - spirituality, Dreaming stories
 - knowledge of Country
 - kinship and family structures
- perspectives and experiences of 'colonisation'
- places of significance and importance, including why they are significant
- one significant First Nations individual, group or organisation and their contribution to two of the following:
 - the continuation of their culture
 - promoting First Nations Peoples' issues in the wider community
 - being a role model to the younger generation

Depth Study Two

Through community experiences and/or secondary sources, and by privileging First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives, students investigate the effects of one event, experience, issue, or proposal on the identities and cultures of Australian First Nations Peoples.

Examples of events/experiences include (this list is not exhaustive or prescriptive):

- constitutional recognition
- Australia Day, 26 January
- the Uluru Statement from the Heart
- Pilbara Aboriginal Strike
- Makarrata
- Black Lives Matter movement
- Stolen Generation.

For the selected event, experience, issue, or proposal, investigate:

- the background, including significant individuals and organisations
- the perspectives of Australian First Nations Peoples and non-Australian First Nations Peoples
- the way in which information and telecommunications, such as film, television and/or social media has influenced people's perceptions
- the effects on the identities and cultures of Australian First Nations Peoples

Intercultural Skills

Research

- construct a set of focus questions to investigate a specific topic/issue (who, what, when, where, how, why)
- plan an inquiry and/or social action with clearly defined aims, using appropriate methodologies
- collect, record and organise information and/or data from relevant culturally responsive resources

Analysis and use of sources

- identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources and/or secondary sources
- evaluate the usefulness of different sources
- recognise different perspectives presented in a variety of different primary and/or secondary sources
- identify and use evidence from different sources to support a point of view
- propose individual and collective action in response to contemporary events, challenges, developments, issues, problems

Evaluating and communicating

- draw conclusions and develop explanations using evidence taking into account different perspectives
- communicating findings using formats appropriate to purpose, including, written, oral or multimodal presentations
- use respectful and inclusive language and terminology
- justify a course of action, and predict the potential outcome of the proposed action
- identify and practise ethical scholarship when conducting research, including:
 - respecting variation between cultural groups of processes and protocols for collecting, acknowledging and communicating information
 - adopt protocols and conventions to communicate in culturally appropriate ways
 - apply appropriate referencing techniques accurately and consistently

Reflection

- acknowledge differences in personal perspectives, interpretations and world views when developing a response
- reflect on own learning to review original understandings

Unit 2

Unit description

The focus of this unit is for students to learn about the distinctiveness and diversity of Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions. They learn how First Nations Peoples, both within Australia and internationally, continue to use materials and technologies in innovative ways to create cultural expressions that celebrate, challenge and communicate ideas and perspectives. Students explore the use of First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions to continue, maintain, share and revitalise their cultural knowledge and values and, in doing so, develop respect and understanding of the cultural protocols, including intellectual and cultural property rights, which exist to protect and revitalise First Nation Peoples' cultures.

Unit content

This unit includes the knowledge, understandings and skills described below.

Overview of the diversity of Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions and protocols

- define the following key terms and concepts as they relate to, and by privileging First Nations Peoples' voices and perspective
 - Cultural Expression
 - Cultural Values
 - Perspectives
 - Colonisation
 - Dispossession
 - Resistance
 - Protocols
 - Resilience
- examples of Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions over time and location, including:
 - oral and performance traditions, e.g. yarning, stories, songs, musical instruments, dance, film, live theatre)
 - written literature, e.g. plays, film scripts, documentaries, children's books
 - visual art, e.g. materials, symbols, paintings, fibre craft, rock art, fashion, textiles
- the ways cultural expressions contribute to maintaining and retaining the identity and cultural values of the Australian First Nations Peoples, including
 - sharing and maintaining cultural knowledge, e.g. customary law, histories, language, ceremonies, creation stories
 - maintenance of family and kinship systems
 - connection to Country, e.g. trade routes, survival, sustainability, Songlines, sacred sites, caring for Country
- the impact of invasion and colonisation on Australian First Nations Peoples' cultural expressions, including dispossession of Country, and Government Assimilation policies, contributing to the interruption of culture, language and social organisation over several generations

- Indigenous Cultural and Intellectual Property and the Protocols for using First Nations Peoples' Intellectual and Cultural Property <https://australiacouncil.gov.au/investment-and-development/protocols-and-resources/protocols-for-using-first-nations-cultural-and-intellectual-property-in-the-arts/>
- Cultural rights of Australian First Nations Peoples', including:
 - Section 28 of the Human Rights Act 2019
 - Article 31 of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

Depth Study One

Through community experiences and/or secondary sources, and by privileging First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives, students investigate one form of cultural expression and its significance for one Australian First Nations People.

From the list below, select one of the forms of cultural expression:

- visual arts – through painting, drawing, printmaking, sculpture, photography, crafts and design, such as ceramics, textiles and homewares
- music – in songs and performances. This includes activities such as composing, recording, publishing music, performing and touring
- theatre – this includes plays, scripted works, music theatre, puppetry
- dance – such as ballet, contemporary dance, traditional dance, intercultural dance
- literature – written works such as fiction and non-fiction works, poetry, biographies, and playwriting.
- events-based projects – including art and cultural festivals.

For the selected form of cultural expression, investigate (where applicable and culturally appropriate):

- two examples of Australian First Nations Peoples' perspectives, stories and/or information represented through the form of cultural expression
- how the form of cultural expression/practice has changed and evolved over time, e.g. types of materials, symbols used
- the role of information and telecommunications technologies in showcasing and celebrating the selected form of cultural expressions locally, nationally and globally
- the importance and contribution of the form of cultural expression to Australian culture and identity.

Depth Study Two

Through community experiences and/or secondary sources, and by privileging First Nations Peoples' voices and perspectives, students investigate the contribution of cultural expressions to the empowerment and resiliency of First Nations Peoples' cultures and identities both in Australia and internationally.

Students investigate (where applicable and culturally appropriate):

- the importance of revitalising First Nation Peoples' languages
- the connection between cultural expressions and the health and wellbeing of First Nations Peoples
- the economic benefits of cultural expressions for First Nations Peoples
- the use of cultural expressions to advocate for the rights of First Nations Peoples and make social and political statements
- two examples of programs or initiatives, which provide opportunities for individual and community cultural practice and expression, including the benefit of these to First Nations Peoples
- the impact of cultural expressions in educating people and changing perceptions about First Nations Peoples' histories and cultures

Intercultural Skills

Research

- construct a set of focus questions to investigate a specific topic/issue (who, what, when, where, how, why)
- plan an inquiry and/or social action with clearly defined aims, using appropriate methodologies
- collect, record and organise information and/or data from relevant culturally responsive resources

Analysis and use of sources

- identify the origin, purpose and context of primary sources and/or secondary sources
- evaluate the usefulness of different sources
- recognise different perspectives presented in a variety of different primary and/or secondary sources
- identify and use evidence from different sources to support a point of view
- propose individual and collective action in response to contemporary events, challenges, developments, issues, problems

Evaluating and communicating

- draw conclusions and develop explanations using evidence taking into account different perspectives
- communicating findings using formats appropriate to purpose, including, written, oral or multimodal presentations
- use respectful and inclusive language and terminology
- justify a course of action, and predict the potential outcome of the proposed action
- identify and practise ethical scholarship when conducting research, including:
 - respecting variation between cultural groups of processes and protocols for collecting, acknowledging and communicating information
 - adopt protocols and conventions to communicate in culturally appropriate ways
 - apply appropriate referencing techniques accurately and consistently.

Reflection

- acknowledge differences in personal perspectives, interpretations and world views when developing a response
- reflect on own learning to review original understandings

Assessment

Assessment is an integral part of teaching and learning that at the senior secondary years:

- provides evidence of student achievement
- identifies opportunities for further learning
- connects to the standards described for the course
- contributes to the recognition of student achievement.

Assessment for learning (formative) and assessment of learning (summative) enable teachers to gather evidence to support students and make judgements about student achievement. These are not necessarily discrete approaches and may be used individually or together, and formally or informally.

Formative assessment involves a range of informal and formal assessment procedures used by teachers during the learning process in order to improve student achievement and to guide teaching and learning activities. It often involves qualitative feedback (rather than scores) for both students and teachers, which focuses on the details of specific knowledge and skills that are being learnt.

Summative assessment involves assessment procedures that aim to determine students' learning at a particular time, for example when reporting against the standards, after completion of a unit/s. These assessments should be limited in number and made clear to students through the assessment outline.

Appropriate assessment of student work in this course is underpinned by reference to the set of pre-determined course standards. These standards describe the level of achievement required to achieve each grade, from A to E. Teachers use these standards to determine how well a student has demonstrated their learning.

Where relevant, higher order cognitive skills (e.g. application, analysis, evaluation and synthesis) and the general capabilities should be included in the assessment of student achievement in this course. All assessment should be consistent with the requirements identified in the course assessment table.

Assessment should not generate workload and/or stress that, under fair and reasonable circumstances, would unduly diminish the performance of students.

School-based assessment

The Western Australian Certificate of Education (WACE) Manual contains essential information on principles, policies and procedures for school-based assessment that must be read in conjunction with this syllabus.

School-based assessment involves teachers gathering, describing and quantifying information about student achievement.

Teachers design school-based assessment tasks to meet the needs of students. As outlined in the WACE Manual, school-based assessment of student achievement in this course must be based on the Principles of Assessment:

- Assessment is an integral part of teaching and learning
- Assessment should be educative
- Assessment should be fair
- Assessment should be designed to meet its specific purpose/s
- Assessment should lead to informative reporting
- Assessment should lead to school-wide evaluation processes
- Assessment should provide significant data for improvement of teaching practices.

Summative assessments in this course must:

- be limited in number to no more than eight tasks
- allow for the assessment of each assessment type at least once for each unit in the unit pair
- have a minimum value of 5 per cent of the total school assessment mark
- provide a representative sampling of the syllabus content.

Assessment tasks not administered under test or controlled conditions require appropriate authentication processes.

Assessment table – Year 11

Type of assessment	Weighting
Inquiry Students conduct investigations using ethical procedures, appropriate methodology and sources, and show cultural sensitivity and awareness to plan, conduct and communicate findings. Students actively engage in collecting and using primary and secondary information sources, which privilege learning from First Nations Peoples, communities and/or other sources of First Nations Peoples' voices. Formats can include: written or oral formats, such as an assignment, a research booklet, report, speech, interview, multimodal presentation, in-class self-evaluation and reflection of learning, in-class validation and/or a combination of these.	30%
Response This can include students' applying knowledge and skills to interpret, analyse, evaluate and respond to a variety of primary and/or secondary sources. Source materials can include: written texts (an extract from a government paper, a newspaper or journal article; or an extract from a narrative, a poem, a song lyric, a play script, or a letter); graphic materials (a photograph, a map, a graph, a diagram, a cartoon, or a drawing); and/or a film or a television show. Formats can include: written or oral formats, such as short answers, extended answers written tests, multimodal presentation and/or a combination of these. At least two response tasks should be administered under test conditions.	40%
Social action Students apply knowledge and understanding gained from First Nations Peoples, communities and/or other sources of First Nations Peoples' voices, to individually or collaboratively plan, design and implement a culturally appropriate and meaningful social action. The social action must demonstrate their learning and respect for First Nations Peoples' histories and cultures and educate other students, teachers and/or community members. Students include evidence of planning, evaluation and reflection on what they have learnt and, on the outcome of the social action. Formats can include: multimodal presentation, video clips, educational resources, children's book, TED talk, lyrics for a song, display boards, pamphlets, interviews, role-plays, panel discussions, museum display, debates, raps, poem, Reconciliation Action Plan.	30%

Teachers must use the assessment table to develop an assessment outline for the pair of units (or for a single unit where only one is being studied).

The assessment outline must:

- include a set of assessment tasks
- include a general description of each task
- indicate the unit content to be assessed
- indicate a weighting for each task and each assessment type
- include the approximate timing of each task (for example, the week the task is conducted, or the issue and submission dates for an extended task).

Reporting

Schools report student achievement, underpinned by a set of pre-determined standards, using the following grades:

Grade	Interpretation
A	Excellent achievement
B	High achievement
C	Satisfactory achievement
D	Limited achievement
E	Very low achievement

The grade descriptions for the Aboriginal and Intercultural Studies General Year 11 syllabus are provided in Appendix 1. They are used to support the allocation of a grade. They can also be accessed, together with annotated work samples, on the course page of the Authority website at www.scsa.wa.edu.au.

To be assigned a grade, a student must have had the opportunity to complete the education program, including the assessment program (unless the school accepts that there are exceptional and justifiable circumstances).

Refer to the WACE Manual for further information about the use of a ranked list in the process of assigning grades.

The grade is determined by reference to the standard, not allocated on the basis of a pre-determined range of marks (cut-offs).

Glossary

Aboriginal enterprise

An enterprise is an economically self-sustaining entity, such as a business or service. Aboriginal enterprises can be owned by individuals, communities, or as an extension of an Aboriginal organisation, and are usually staffed by Aboriginal people. Aboriginal enterprises can be social enterprises, or based on certain protocols such as benefit sharing.

Assimilation

When members of one cultural group acquire the language, practices and beliefs of another group, often losing aspects of their traditional culture in the process.

Autonomy

Acting independently, self-government.

Community

Community is about interrelatedness and belonging, and is central to Aboriginality. An Aboriginal person may belong to more than one language group and community. Important elements of a community are Country, family ties and shared experience. The use of 'community/ies' in the syllabus indicates that any one location may in fact consist of several communities.

Country

Used to describe a specific area of a nation or clan including physical, linguistic and spiritual features. Aboriginal communities' cultural associations with their Country may include or relate to languages, cultural practices, knowledge, songs, stories, art, paths, landforms, flora, fauna and minerals. These cultural associations may include custodial relationships with particular landscapes such as land, sea, sky, rivers as well as the intangible places associated with the Dreaming/s. Custodial relationships are extremely important in determining who may have the capacity to authentically speak for their Country.

Colonisation

Establishment of a colony or colonies in a country or area. Colonisation dispossessed Indigenous people of their traditional lands. In Australia, colonisation began with the First Fleet's arrival from Britain in 1788, and progressed over time with settlements in different states.

Culture

The accepted and traditionally patterned ways of behaving and a set of common understandings shared by members of a group or community. Includes land, language, ways of living and working and artistic expression, relationship and identity.

Cultural Expression

Refers to different ways in which culture, history and society are conveyed.

Custodians of the land

People responsible for maintaining and passing on elements of cultural significance, e.g. knowledge, language, story, dance, imagery, song and ritual.

Diversity

Differences that exist within a group, e.g. age, sex, gender, gender expression, sexuality, culture, ethnicity, ability/disability, body shape and composition, spirituality, religion, learning differences, socioeconomic background, values and experience.

Dreaming

The Dreaming has different meanings for different Aboriginal groups. The Dreaming can be seen as the embodiment of Aboriginal creation which gives meaning to everything; the essence of Aboriginal beliefs about creation and spiritual and physical existence. It establishes the rules governing relationships between the people, the land and all things for Aboriginal Peoples. Certain cultural aspects are also associated with specific Dreamings. The Dreaming is linked to the past, the present and the future. Where appropriate, refer to Aboriginal language names for the Dreaming.

Dispossession

Dispossession refers to Aboriginal Peoples being denied ownership and/or access to their land. The term is used in both the legal sense, e.g. terra nullius, and the practical sense, e.g. dislocation (see terra nullius, dislocation).

Elders

Elders are custodians of knowledge. They are chosen and accepted by their own communities and are highly respected.

Identity

A person's understanding and expression of their own individuality and of belonging to a group; often connected to culture and language.

Indigenous Cultural and Intellectual Property (ICIP)

Includes, but is not limited to, objects, sites, cultural knowledge, cultural expression and the arts, that have been transmitted or continue to be transmitted through generations as belonging to a particular Indigenous group or Indigenous people as a whole or their territory (see intellectual property).

Intellectual property

Non-material assets such as forms of cultural expression that belong to a particular individual or community. Intellectual property rights are the bundle of rights that the law grants to individuals for the protection of creative intellectual, scientific and industrial activity, such as inventions. Such rights are for the protection of economic interest in novel, inventive and/or creative effort (see Indigenous Cultural and Intellectual Property, cultural ownership, copyright).

Kinship

A key aspect of Aboriginal cultures and values. It includes the importance of all relationships, and of being related to and belonging to Country (land).

Land

The term 'land' is used by Aboriginal Peoples to describe their spirituality, ecosystems, Dreaming(s), all living things, including totems, all physical factors such as sacred sites, water, air and geographical factors (see Country).

Land management

A process of developing land and monitoring its use in a sustainable way, usually for purposes of producing food and providing fibre for clothing and housing. Includes providing protection for flora and fauna, and preventing and controlling weeds (may also include water management).

Land rights

The evolving struggle of Aboriginal Peoples, Torres Strait Islander Peoples, and international Indigenous Peoples for the absolute legal and moral acknowledgement of prior ownership of their land and recognition of all accompanying rights and obligations which flow from this association. Land Rights (capitalised) refers to the legislation (see land).

Local Aboriginal community

The local Aboriginal community is constituted by those people who acknowledge themselves as Aboriginal and who reside in the near locality. Aboriginal communities will have a rich and diverse history that has been seriously affected by dispossession and relations, which sees families with spiritual connection to Country residing beside those who have been forced to move from other locations. The notion of locality is complex and multilayered: schools should seek advice from a range of people and/or organisations representing local interests.

For the purpose of this course, the local Aboriginal community case study is to be the Aboriginal community/ies in which the school is located. The use of 'community/ies' in the syllabus indicates that any one location may in fact consist of several communities.

Lore

The learning and transmission of cultural heritage by observing customs, ceremonies and song cycles. Lore is connected to the Dreaming and provides protocols and practices for how people interact with Country, kinship and community.

The term 'Lore' must be used with care. Some individuals and groups could find this term offensive, and may prefer to use Aboriginal language terms or 'law'.

Native title

Native title is the recognition in Australian law that Indigenous people had a system of law and ownership of their lands before European settlement. It was first recognised in common law in the Mabo case (1992) by the High Court, which overturned the idea of terra nullius (that the continent belonged to no-one at the time of European arrival). The native title of a particular group depends on the law and customs of those people.

Peoples

The term 'Peoples' acknowledges the plurality and diversity of Aboriginal cultures, Torres Strait Islander cultures, and international Indigenous cultures.

Perspectives

A person's perspective is their point of view; the position from which they see and understand the world and events going on around them. People in the past may have had different points of view about a particular event, depending on their age, gender, social position and their beliefs and values. Historians also have perspectives and this can influence their interpretation of the past.

Protocols

'Protocols' refers to appropriate ways of behaving, communicating and showing respect for diversity of history and culture. They involve appreciation of the knowledge, standing and status of people within both the local Aboriginal community and the school community. Protocols inevitably vary between communities, and between people within communities. In establishing a partnership between schools and Aboriginal communities it is especially important that protocols are acknowledged and respected.

Reconciliation

A Commonwealth initiative to promote positive relationships between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples and the wider community, and to address the disadvantage faced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples. A capitalised 'Reconciliation' is used to refer specifically to the process as it applies to government policy.

Revitalisation

The range of strategies for increasing knowledge and use of a language that is no longer spoken fluently across all generations. Also referred to as language revival.

Self-determination

Self-determination involves the effective participation of Aboriginal Peoples in all decision making that affects them.

Social justice

A principle that favours measures aimed at addressing inequities. It includes the rights of people to economic and social independence, and empowerment to determine the direction of their own futures. The processes and systems which shape the interaction between people, communities and governments and determine the degree of social justice achieved.

Spirituality

In general, the term 'spirituality' refers to personal beliefs and associated practices, while the term 'religion' relates to a belief system and practices shared by a group. An individual may identify with both spirituality and religious affiliation.

For the purpose of this course, the terms 'spirituality' and 'spiritualities' refer to both the individual and collective aspects of Aboriginal Peoples' interconnectedness with the world. Spirituality is deeply linked to Country, Dreaming/s, kinship and identity, and often incorporates concepts associated with 'law' and/or 'lore', such as responsibilities and obligations. Spirituality is also related to a person's intrinsic journey, including learning and reflection.

Songlines

'Songlines' is an English word for Dreaming tracks that trace the journeys of Ancestral spirits as they created the land, animals and laws. Songlines are recorded in songs, stories, dance and art. They carry significant spiritual, ecological, economic and cultural connection to the knowledge, customs, ceremony and Law of many language groups, including travel and trade routes, the location of waterholes and the presence of food. In many cases, songlines on the earth are mirrored by sky songlines which, together, allowed people to navigate the land and seas.

Sovereignty

The legal recognition of ownership of land and territory. Implicit in the concept is the right of self-government. Aboriginal Peoples and Torres Strait Islander Peoples have never ceded their sovereignty.

Sustainability

The concept of sustainability is about the capacity of the environment to continue to support our lives and the lives of other living creatures into the future. Sustainability is both a goal and a way of thinking about how to progress towards that goal. Progress towards environmental sustainability depends on the maintenance or restoration of the environmental functions that sustain all life and human wellbeing (economic and social).

Terra nullius

A Latin term meaning 'land belonging to no one' The term terra nullius means 'nobody's land,' 'land belonging to no one,' or 'land without owners' and was problematically used to 'justify' colonial expansion and deny Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' relationship with, and rights to, their land.

Torres Strait Islander Peoples

People from the Torres Strait Islands are the traditional owners of the islands that lie between Cape York in northern Queensland and Papua New Guinea. Torres Strait Islander Peoples are the Indigenous people from these islands. Some Torres Strait Islander People live on the mainland. Torres Strait Islander Peoples' histories and cultures are distinct from Aboriginal Peoples' histories and cultures, and are generally referred to separately.

Totems

Natural objects inherited by clan or family members as their spiritual emblem, e.g. animals, plants.

Traditional Owners of land

Term associated with original custodians of the land; an Aboriginal person who is recognised by their community as having ownership and knowledge of a particular area or 'country' often used in association with Australian Law.

Wellbeing

An overall measure of quality of life for individuals and society.

Worldviews

The concept of the world held by Aboriginal peoples and Torres Strait Islander peoples in which each aspect of culture, identity and society is connected with all other aspects in the context of particular times, places and relationships.

Zogo Time

A worldview used among Torres Strait Islander language groups that affects beliefs, values and relationships with land, sea, sky, waterways, language and culture; also referred to as Augadth Time.
